DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to because the replacement drawing for Fig. 1 contains minor informalities such as handwritten words. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blackburn et al (6,188,940) in view of Foo et al (6,341,252). Blackburn et al disclose an apparatus for protecting a vehicle occupant comprising a method for triggering a restraint device 40', said method comprising determining a motion of the occupant using a crash sensor having accelerometers to sense a crash, an occupant position sensor 48, a belt payout sensor 28, and a seat position sensor 32. Blackburn discloses the present invention except for the method determining the height of the center of gravity of the vehicle's occupant. Foo et al teach a method and apparatus for controlling an actuatable occupant protection device comprising a controller 26, a weight sensor system 46 that is able to determine the vehicle occupant's center of gravity as well as a position and size of the occupant's upper body, and a weight sensor integrator 68 stored in memory of the controller that resolves output signals from the weight sensor system 46 using stored relationships between the weight of the occupant and other anthropomorphic data of the occupant to permit multiple levels of control of the restraint device. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the apparatus of Blackburn et al with Foo et al's teaching of using a weight sensor system to determine the center of gravity and better determine the position of a vehicle occupant and a weight sensor integrator to permit multiple levels of control of the restraint device.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
